I started work at 6 [prompted]. On Wednesday 5th January I started work sharply at 1800. I worked diligently serving multiple customers their life-saving rations of fish and chips, pride in my heart. At 2150, or thereabouts, I heard a scream outside and then someone shouting [prompted]. I remained steadfast at my post as such noises were not uncommon from the chavs, sorry from the local miscreants. Shortly thereafter a woman came in with a walking frame [prompted]. Old [prompted]. Very old. She said she needed to use the phone, I said it wasn't for customers. She said it was urgent, a woman had been attacked, so I said I'd have to ask my boss [prompted] The Right Honourable Gentleman Giorgio N [REDACTED] [Giorgio N [REDACTED] – supplement attached. NB Giorgio is not a member of the privy council, a peer, nor holder of such offices as entitles him to Rt Hon.]. He said sure, but the old bag had gone so I called nine nine nine and got back to manning my post [prompted]. That apparently there was an injured woman by the Peel Monument [prompted]. No, why? [interview concluded]
